NUMB. 3282

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1744.

Berlin, November 10.

IS Majesty having considered the late Edict published by the Court of Vienna, requiring all the Subjects of the Crown of Hungary, in his Service, to quit it immediately, under great Penalties, on Account of the Auxiliaries granted by him to the Emperor; his Majesty considering this as extremely injurious to those whom it concerns, has published an Edict, which bears Date at the Camp of Bechin, Oct. 15. 44, by which he grants his high Protection to such the Hungarians as are in his Majesty's Service; and who require all his Vassals and Subjects, Natives of the Duchy of Silesia, or who are possessed of Estates therein that Duchy, and are employed in the Service of the Queen of Hungary, whether in a Civil, or a Military Capacity, to quit that Service in two Months; promising them as comply with this Edict, suitable Employments in his own Service; and threatening such as disobey it, with his utmost Displeasure, and the Confiscation of his Goods and Estates; which his Majesty declares will be applied to the indemnifying such as may suffer remaining in his Service, contrary to the Queen of Hungary's Edict. Some People look upon this Step, as plain Proof, that our Breach with the Court of Vienna is wider than ever; while others regard it in quite a different Light, and as an act of Form made necessary by the Edict which her Hungarian Majesty had first published. It is certain, that the Steps taken by the Court of Vienna, have surpris'd his Majesty very much; and is very probable, have occasioned his altering his Measures in Bohemia; but it is, at the same time, highly likely, that the next Spring will change the Face of Affairs; since, according to the Dispositions lately made, his Majesty will have three Armies early in the Field; one of 70,000 Men, which he will command in Person; another of 35,000, under the Prince of Anhalt Dessau; and the third of 25,000, under Field Marshal Schmettau. An Express that arrived Yesterday from Baron Walldorf, our Minister at the Diet of Grodno, we are assured, that her Imperial Majesty of Russia has caus'd a Declaration to be made to the King, and Republick of Poland, that she intends to take no Part whatever in the present Troubles of Germany, except offering her good Offices, in order to compose them.

Cologne, November 10. On the 8th in the Evening his Grace Highness, our Elector, arriv'd here from Clevesworth, and lighted at the Lodgings of the Count of Hohenhausen, our Grand Dean, where he supp'd, and then he went to the Countess of Walsenau, the Dutch Minister, was to have come with him, but did not. His Grace Highness is return'd hither this Morning, by a very odd Accident. He was to have passed the Rhine by Grimlinghausen; but the Water was so high, that the Bridge was quite overflow'd. This was foreseen, and Pontons were ready for the Service of his Highness; just as his Coach-Horses were driving on it, the Rafter of the River carried away the Ponton, so that his Highness had a very narrow Escape. After passing the Rhine here, he will continue his Journey to Bonn, where the Dutch and Hanoverian Ministers have Order to follow him; from whence we conclude, that the Negotiation of Importance is on the Carpet; the Emperor, because Orders have been issued out for commanding the Forces in the Bishoprick of Munster in three Weeks, and very considerable Sums have been remitted to their Officers for that Purpose. The Siege of Fribourg continues, at least we are sure it was not taken Days ago, which must give the French Court infinite Uneasiness; since the Marshal Belleisle declar'd, before he left Metz, that as soon as Fribourg was taken, the Kings, his Master, would strike two Blows that would fill the Enemies of France with Terror; from whence it is concluded, that the Army before Fribourg is to have been employed in striking, at least, one of the Blows. Some People here pretend to unravel this Mystery; and affirm, that M. Belleisle, at the Head of 1000 Men, was to have reinforced the Imperial Army, and to have form'd the Blockade of Vienna, while M. de Melle, with 30,000 more, was to have taken up his Winter Quarters in the Electorate of Hanover. Many People think, that the obstinate Defence made by General Damitz, has disappointed the first Design, and greatly retard the Second.

Paris, November 13. We are equally surpris'd at the promotion of the Marquis de Villeneuve, and at the disgrace of the Duke de Chatillon, both of which were attended with some extraordinary Circumstances. The Marquis, on his Return from his Embassy to the Porte, was honoured with the Title of Counsellor of State; but found his Interest with the new Ministry so indifferent, that he retir'd to his Estate in the Country, and determin'd to pass the Remainder of his Days in private; when of a sudden, and at a Time when he least expected it, he was declar'd Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. It is whisper'd here, that he ow'd his Promotion entirely to the good Pleasure of his Majesty, who had been long sollicitous in favour of two other Persons; one supported by the Friends of the old, and the other recommended by the new Ministry; and it was to put an End to these Sollicitations, that his Majesty declar'd the Marquis de Villeneuve, without any Recommendation at all. As for the Duke de Chatillon, and his Duchess, they had but three Hours Notice given them to retire. Their Disgrace is attributed to the Intrigues of the Duchess de Charroux, who, it is thought, will very soon return to Court; but to pave the Way to this, it is believed that the Bishop of Soissons, and some others, will be exil'd. The King of Prussia having absolutely insisted on the March of the Forces design'd for Westphalia, 50 Battalions, and 20 Squadrons, have been actually destin'd for that Service, under the Command of M. Mallebois. It is true, that these make at present but 33,000 Men; but as these Corps, when complete, will make full 40,000; and as his Majesty has promised they shall be recruited before the Month of February, it is conceiv'd the King of Prussia will consider this as an absolute Compliance with his Demand. The Armament now making at Toulon, under the Direction, and at the Expence of M. de Lage de Cully, will cost 600,000 Livres; and it is presumed, it is intended for some extraordinary Design, the King having reserv'd no more than a Fifth of the clear Profits that may accrue from it.

HOME PORTS.

Dover, November 14. One of the Cutters sent in Yesterday is supposed to be a Smuggler, being laden with Brandy in small Casks; the other had only five Frenchmen on board, and is supposed to have landed a Cargo of Tea, or Brandy, on our Coast. Last Night pass'd by Dover Road, for the Downs, two Ships from Virginia, but can't get their Names.

According to private Advices from Copenhagen, his Danish Majesty has lately given the French Minister to understand, that the present Conjunction of Affairs will not allow him to renew his Treaty of Subsidy with his most Christian Majesty.

Accounts from Germany differ exceedingly as to the Surrender of Fribourg. Some say, that in case her Hungarian Majesty ratifies the Capitulation, the Garison will be re-admitted into the Place, and are to march out thro' the Breaches, Drums beating, Colours flying, and with six Pieces of Artillery. Others, that if this Capitulation be not ratified, the Garison, in case the Castles are taken, are to remain Prisoners of War.

There are Advices from Munich, which inform us, that M. Seckendorff has resign'd the Command of the Imperial Army; and that it is given, for the Present, to Field Marshal Thoring.

We learn from the Hague, that they entertain some Hopes there, of seeing a Peace concluded in the Winter, under the Mediation, as it is said, of the Czarina, and the Kings of Denmark and Portugal.
